PRIMETIME

Thursday, July 7, 2005

MAIMED AMERICAN SOLDIERS

ABC News Correspondent Brian Ross updates his troubling October 2004 report about four American soldiers seriously wounded in Iraq who said they faced impoverishment. Ross reports that these soldiers - one of whom was living out of his car -- and others like them returned home from war with devastating injuries and only the promise of modest military pensions.

EMBRYO ADOPTIONS

Greg and Cara Vest desperately wanted a child of their own after trying for five years. Bob and Susanne Gray had frozen embryos left over following their successful invitro fertilization. John Quiñones reports that an agreement enabled the Vests to give birth to the Grays' biological child and raise him as their own, resulting in a very unusual extended family. But while embryo adoption affords would-be parents like the Vests a new option, it also poses a wide range of legal and ethical dilemmas.

JOHN OF GOD

In a February 10, 2005, John Quinones reported on the story of "John of God," the man some claim is the most powerful spiritual healer since Jesus, and others say is simply a charlatan. Quinones revisits some of the people to see if they found the miracle cure.

BRAVE HEARTS

Diane Sawyer interviews Mary Katherine Smart, who speaks for the first time about her sister Elizabeth Smart's abduction from their Salt Lake City, UT, bedroom. It was her astonishingly awakened memory that helped break open the case and bring home the sister she loves so dearly.

Chris Cuomo meets Jeanette Tamayo, who was kidnapped from her home and held captive by a man who severely abused and threatened to kill her. This brave and clever girl refused to be a victim. She explains how she used techniques she learned on TV programs to save herself and almost single-handedly put her tormentor in prison.

ISOLATED COMMUNITY

John Quiñones returns to Colorado City, AZ, with anti-polygamy activist Flora Jessop and her cousin, Laurene. Laurene escaped from the Fundamentalist Church of Latter Day Saints sect, where she was placed into a polygamous marriage arranged by the sect. For Laurene, this trip is an opportunity to prove to herself that she's truly free from the clutches of her past.

PROFESSIONAL GOLF

Mianne Bagger is a professional golfer on the Ladies European Tour who was born a man. "Primetime's" Jay Schadler interviews the Danish-born Bagger, who says she'd like to play in American events too. However, while the European tour has accepted transsexual golfers, the United States' governing body, the L.P.G.A., has a rule that only natural-born women can play on their tour.

Thursday, August 4, 2005
