SILENT SCREAMS IN THE DESERT (MEXICO) - 2 PTS.

Producer: David Lewis; Support Susan Welsh, Vivian Hernandez-Ortiz

Following what might be the most prolific serial killing spree in history, John Quinones returns to Mexico to investigate the deaths of up to 90 women and girls living in Juarez, Mexico. To date there has been one arrest, and Mexican police say they've solved the crime—yet the murders continue. The FBI believes authorities may be looking on the wrong side of the border. Mexican authorities have identified suspects in the cases, but the murders have continued even as police detained those suspects.

REELING FROM A BROKEN HEART (BARBARA EDEN)

Producer: Joe Tobin; Support Angela Chambers

Connie Chung interviews actor Barbara Eden. Chung and Eden discuss her life as the actress in I Dream of Jeannie, and her family life along with the recent death of her son. As a result of his tragic death, Eden is determined to tell parents to get involved in their kid's lives.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE? (FILM FLUBS)

Producer: Martin Zied; Support Michelle Chang

Even the most thoroughly edited Hollywood movies can contain a multitude of glaring mistakes. According to film flub expert Bill Givens, often times filmmakers either spot the mistakes after the film has come out, or in the editing room after all the sets have been torn down.

YOUNG AMERICANS (AFGHANISTAN)

Producer: Mary Raffalli; Support Helen Coster

American school children give their take on the people in Afghanistan. After a 3rd grade class did research about the country and its people, they collected items to donate to the refugees. Some of the kids say if Americans knew how much they had compared to Afghanistan, they wouldn't be asking for more.

THE ORIGINAL GROUPIE (ALMOUST FAMOUS)

Producer: Joe Tobin; Support Erin Biddle

She's been rocking for more than 20 years, and has dated some of the worlds most famous rock stars. Bebe Buell, mother of movie star Liv Tyler, tells Chris Cuomo how she felt when all the stars including her own child abandoned her.

A FAMILY'S DESPARATE SEARCH (LOST DAUGHTER)

Producer: Natalie Gustafson; Support Kathy Ritchie

Juju Chang follows an older couple on their heartbreaking search for their lost daughter. Over 16 months ago, Colleen Hurley disappeared with only the clothes on her back, and there's no evidence of a crime. The couple is convinced that their daughter's mysterious boyfriend is to blame.

A POWERFUL HOLLYWOOD TEAM (OLSEN TWINS)

Producer: Marc Dorian; Support Mary Healy

15 year olds Ashley and Mary Olsen sit atop a billion dollar a year empire. Overseeing products. Making decisions. Connie Chung and Marc Dorian explore the business of marketing innocence.

THE SINS OF THE FATHER (JOHN LIST)- 3 PARTS

Producer: Terri Whitcraft; Support Lisa Ort

Connie Chung's last piece for ABC is a chilling, utterly fascinating interview with John List produced by Terri Whitcraft. Thirty years ago, List, a mild-mannered accountant murdered his mother, wife and three children in cold blood. He left a note for police directing them to the bodies, and then disappeared for 18 years. Although he was arrested over 10 years ago, John List has never talked until now.

A WHOLE NEW LUTHER (LUTHER VANDROSS)

Producer: Gwen Gowen; Support Erin Biddle

Juju Chang captures Luther Vandross's roller-coaster battle with his weight in a lyrical piece produced by Gwen Gowen. More proud of his weight loss than his Grammy awards, Luther describes how he has conquered his addition to food. Vandross has lost over 100 pounds twelve times, and is determined to keep it off.

Wednesday, February 27, 2002

VANISHED DAUGHTER (SAN DIEGO)- 3 PARTS

Producer: Richard Gerdau; Support Eric Salat

There can be no worse nightmare for a parent than waking up and finding your child missing. Just weeks ago, that's what happened to Brenda and Damon Van Dam. Since then, Richard Gerdau and the ubiquitous, talented Vanished team have lived among the family and friends of seven year old Danielle. Elizabeth Vargas follows as the entire community joins the search, as they and the family deal with rumors of an unconventional lifestyle, a suspect arrested right from their midst, and finally, as hope slips away.

RICH MISER (RICH MISER)

Producer: Gabriella Messina; Support Roje Augustin

Clark Howard is a multi-millionaire, but he's also one of the most frugal people you'll ever meet. Chris Cuomo takes a lesson from a Rich Miser as he tours the aisles of shopping clubs and turns over price tags...The piece, produced by Gabriella Messina teaches us that no matter how rich you are, there are ways to cut back that you couldn't begin to imagine.

Wednesday, March 6, 2002

DOGS OUT OF CONTROL (POLICE DOGS)

Producer: Eric Hanan; Support Deborah Runcie

A rather harrowing piece on man's best friends: police dogs turning on innocent victims and tackling criminals with what some describe as excessive force. Chris Cuomo investigates the police and their dogs in Prince Georges County Maryland...dogs being used more as weapons than for restraint.

JENNIFER GARNER

Producer: Marty Zied; Support Michelle Chang

She speaks any language and she saves the world once a week. John Quinones has the pleasure of interviewing Alias star Jennifer Garner, who recently won a Golden Globe award for best actress. Confused by her success, she reveals herself to Downtown as a down-to-earth hard working heroine.

CHILD CONTROLLED BY PANIC

Producer: Sarah Koch; Support Jen Fukui

She is only 7 years old and she constantly worries. Her panic prevents her from going to sleep. She is afraid she will be abducted. She is afraid to eat because she fears she'll choke. Little children exhibit all kinds of childhood fears...but Juju Chang will introduce you to Lindsay Marble, the youngest child to ever suffer from severe anxiety or panic disorder...clinical anxiety.

FREE DIVING

Producer: Steve Schnee; Support Michael Mendelsohn

Bill Ritter takes the plunge as he tries to replicate free-diver Francisco Ferreras' dive 400 below the surface. That's the equivalent of a 40-story skyscraper. Francisco can hold his breath underwater for around eight minutes and dives hundreds of feet with just one breath.

Wednesday, March 13, 2002

FALLEN BEAUTY QUEEN (MISS TEEN ARIZONA)

Producer: Eric Hanan; Support Kathy Ritchie

She had everything—beauty, talent drive, and even the crowns to show for it. But when police arrested her, she also had 48 grams of crystal meth stashed in her bra, and a loaded gun in her purse. From beauty queen to prisoner on a chain gang: Ju Ju Chang reveals the unlikely real-life story of Misty Kline.

DIVORCED MEN

Producer: Joanna Breen; Support Jen Fukui

Bill Ritter gets divorced men to reveal the secrets they wish they'd told their wives. Eight divorced men from around the country set the record straight, and what they say just might save your marriage.

HARVARD MURDER

Producer: Alison Lynn ; Support Ruth Reiss

The road to Harvard Square is paved with promise. For some, a life of privilege, for others, a seedy world of drugs and petty crime. Don Dahler tells the tale of Inokway, a young Hawaiian woman who's time spent in Harvard Square ended in death. Six people, including two women, have been indicted for her murder and all six have pleaded not guilty.

LITTLE THINGS

Producer: Karen Saunders; Support Roje Augustin

Can sensitivity to race go too far? America's population is more diverse than ever, but often people can offend others and not even know it. Elizabeth Vargas asks groups of whites and blacks what is offensive, and overall, race experts say we need to lighten up.

Wednesday, March 20, 2002

POLICE PURSUITS

Producer: Mark Dorian; Support Myrna Toledo

It's real. It's life or death. And it's live. We know they're riveting, but are police pursuits worth the risk to innocent bystanders? When should police abandon the chase? Chris Cuomo takes a hard look at the high price of pursuit.

FAKE CANCER

Producer: Rob Wallace; Support Logan Nakyanzi

They gave her six months to live, and a community opened its hearts and wallets. Oprah Winfrey welcomed the dying woman on her show and showered her with more gifts. Yet Charlene Zimmerman, who had diagnosed herself with terminal cancer, didn't seem to be getting any worse. To the contrary, a year later she was still alive and gaining weight. Was she dying, or lying? Tom Jarriel uncovers the strange story of a woman who cried wolf, to her family and community, and got caught.

KRISHNA KIDS

Producer: Michael Pressman ; Support Brian Hale

Hare Krishna were everywhere in the seventies, but while they were preaching love and spirituality, what was being done to some children at Krishna schools? Accusations impossible to imagine and difficult to believe—John Quinones uncovers a long-hidden secret of abuse and shame.

FILM FLUBS

Producer: Marty Zied; Support Michelle Chang

The academy celebrates the triumphs. We celebrate the flubs. Why is their Moulin so Rouge over this mistake? See if you can spot the flubs. Think $140 million buys perfection? Chris Cuomo says THINK AGAIN.

Wednesday, March 27, 2002
WITHOUT A TRACE
Producer: Karen Burnes and Lee Hoffman
The Disappearance of two teenaged girls has a small Oregon town on edge. In the last two months, two teenaged girls have disappeared without a trace from the same apartment complex in a community outside of Portland, Oregon. The mystery of what happened to Ashley Pond and Miranda Gaddis has spurred the largest manhunt in the state's history and sparked fears that a sexual predator may be on the loose, reports Jami Floyd.

Primetime Thursday:

Thursday, January 17, 2002
UNLEASHED (RUSSELL CROWE) – 2 PTS.
Producers: Kristen Strand and Dave Perozzi; Support LaNeice Collins
Diane Sawyer interviews actor Russell Crowe. Currently starring in the film A Beautiful Mind, his acting repertoire includes a Best Actor Oscar for 2000's Gladiator. Fame has brought controversy, however, and many questions regarding his professional and personal life remain, including his former relationship with Meg Ryan and the reputation of masculinity that precedes him.

THE MAN WHO KNEW TOO MUCH (BOB BAER/CIA) – 2 PARTS
Producers: Teri Lichstein and Dennis O'Brien; Support: Erik Avram, Mike Mendelsohn, Deborah Katz
Correspondent John Miller interviews CIA Man Bob Baer from Lebanon in a forceful piece based on his new book See No Evil. For 20 years Bob Baer has been an intelligence agent for the CIA. His assignments have taken him through the Middle East, most recently to Iraq. In this interview with John Miller, Baer discusses how he was investigated for the assassination of Saddam Hussein and how unprepared the CIA was for September 11th.

Thursday, January 24, 2002
INTO THE BEDROOM (DNA Divorce) – 2 parts
Producer: Jackie Payson; Support: Christine Murphy, Jason Potts
Diane Sawyer interviews Nanette Sexton, first person to use DNA to prove adultery in a divorce case…and speak about it. A pioneer of personal DNA, Ms. Sexton's story takes a strange turn when children, doctors and lawyers take her to task in a Palm Beach court, and challenge an agreement they say she had her husband sign, involving possible signs he had Alzheimer's. Producer: Jackie Payson.

HOPE SELLS: HIDDEN CAMERA INVESTIGATION (Cancer 'Quacks') – 3 parts
Producers: Greg Fisher and Steve Brand; Support: Sylvia Johnson, Michael Pickup
A PT/Chris Wallace investigation into alternative cancer treatments. Our hidden cameras catch pitches designed to sell hope to desperate cancer patients, which experts debunk as impossibly high in terms of success rates they promise and costs they charge. Hidden cameras take a cancer patient to Tijuana and get an inside look at alternative clinic practices. Chris Wallace asks the doctors and officials pitching these therapies tough questions about their trade...and gets mixed results for answers. Producers: Greg Fisher and Steve Brand.

WALKING INTO A TRAP (Danny Pearl Dead)
Correspondent: Cynthia McFadden; Producers: Clem Taylor, Joan Martelli, Tom Berman, Howard Rosenberg; Support: LaNeice Collins, Marcia Biggs, Ani Mozian, James Wang, Michael Pickup, Brian Hale
Cynthia McFadden and the news we dreaded we would hear. After 29 days in captivity, Wall Street Journalist Daniel Pearl is confirmed dead by the State Department. Apparently his death is caught on videotape. Primetime details the gentle, irreverent soul whose family, colleagues, and courageous wife who offered herself in Danny's place to Pakistani captors, will sorely miss. The injustice of a journalist who went to figure out the truth of terrorism be slain by terrorists stays with us all.

LET'S ROLL (Lisa Beamer Baby)
Correspondent: Diane Sawyer; Producer: Chris Whipple, Claire Weinraub; Support: Mary Healy
"He was just a little guy, but he was a big guy to us." For wife Lisa Beamer, these words sum up big kid husband Todd, who became a national hero when he tackled terrorists aboard United Flight 93 with the rallying cry "let's roll!" Wife and mother of two boys, she became the nation's symbol for strength in the face of loss when on Jan. 8th she gave birth to baby Morgan, infant with her Dad's full head of dark hair, a new little sister to brothers David and Drew, who will someday learn about her father's heroism. Lisa talks with Diane Sawyer about inducing a pregnancy she felt she couldn't go alone, The Todd Beamer Foundation she established to help the 22 other children who lost parents on Flight 93, her views against the bombing in Afghanistan, feelings on her recent rise to a unique kind of fame, and, like many parents before, what it's like to answer children's searing questions about death and memories.

PRIMETIME INVESTIGATION (Detail Man)
Correspondent: Brian Ross; Producer: David Scott
A Brian Ross investigation into the excessive solicitations offered by pharmaceutical companies to physicians in the marketing and sale of prescription medications. Doctors in contemporary America are routinely offered gifts by pharmas in an effort to get them to prescribe brand medications. Serious questions of medical ethics and violations of anti-kickback law are raised when personal gain influences the treatments prescribed by physicians. The Brian Ross investigation and producer David Scott shine light onto these important issues.

PROMISES, PROMISES (Cosmetics)
Correspondent: Elizabeth Vargas; Producer: Catherine Upin; Support: Angela Chambers
Promises, promises...these are what correspondent Elizabeth Vargas goes under with hidden camera investigation to check out. Cosmetics counter claims about the miraculous creams that do everything--give women flawless faces, better bodies, repair damage, take away stress, darkness, make skin firm, give you energy, in short...more than you can imagine. Too good to be true? The counter people say "trust me," but as Elizabeth Vargas and producer Catherine Upin show, that's exactly what women shouldn't do.

BEHIND THE VEIL (Afghan Women)

Correspondent: Diane Sawyer; Producers: Bert Rudman and Christina Romano; Support: Marcia Biggs, Joe Schanzer, Vanessa Cochran

Diane returns to Afghanistan and the courageous group of women PT talked to when the Taliban 7 years ago ruled. We didn't know what happened to them over these last few years-- only that they were hunted for breaking their silence. Today they speak freely of their fears after we left-- And what life is like is like now that they are no longer prisoners behind their veils.

CHER (2 PARTS)

Correspondent: Cynthia McFadden; Producer: Dave Perozzi; Support: Devon Binch, Brian Neff, Ed Delgado

Cynthia McFadden and the indomitable rock star... Why does Cher believe she has been so incredibly enduring? The star comes clean on plastic surgery, aging in Hollywood, and the secret to her everlasting fame. She also addresses past mistakes and the trials of motherhood as the mom of Chastity and Elijah Blue.

WAITING TO HAPPEN (DANIEL PEARL)

Correspondent: John Quinones; Producer: Howard Rosenberg, Jim DuBreuil, Support: Michael Pickup, Mike Kravinsky

Who is Omar Sheikh? John Quinones fleshes out the shadowy outline of Daniel Pearl's admitted kidnapper. Our piece focuses on a man who escaped from the kidnaper, on one of the 4 brits who were freed when the police raided his hideout and on a man who trained with the sheik.

PRIMETIME INVESTIGATION (Chrysler Seatbelts)

Cynthia McFadden; Producer: Scott Bronstein; Support: Camille Elhassani, Ruth Reiss; Edit: Bob David

It starts as a tragic traffic accident in Texas - Bart Moran is killed when he is thrown from his Chrysler vehicle. At first, everyone assumed his death resulted from his not wearing a seat belt. But his wife couldn't accept that answer...Bart was known as "Mr. Seatbelt" among friends and family. A detailed investigation, then a courtroom fight, and now there are many - including the jury - who believe Bart not only wore his seat belt, but that the seat belt was faulty and defective. Biggest surprise of all: there are today some 12 million vehicles like this one possibly on the road - comprising nearly half of all cars made by Chrysler, Plymouth and Dodge. We test the seat belts and compare them with competitors. The results are shocking...A Primetime investigation by Cynthia McFadden...Scott Bronstein producing.

DOLLARS AND SCENTS (San Francisco Bank Robber)

Chris Cuomo; Producer: Amy Rosenberg; Support: Susan Welsh, Gina LeVeque; Edit: Gina Pampinella

San Francisco air traffic controller Rick Davis made over $100,000 a year, yet was still in financial ruin. His solution? A nine-month crime spree of bank heists. His defense? A cow made him do it. Watch Rick Davis explain his secret double life to correspondent Chris Cuomo...at work landing jumbo jets, when he was off, a bandit in sunglasses robbing banks...Amy Rosenberg producing.

TENDER HEARTS (Art Therapy -- 2 parts)

Jay Schadler; Producer: Jackie Payson; Support: Kate Sheekey, Lisa Ort; Edit: Ed Delgado

Many children lost parents on 9/11. Some have joined a program to express their sorrow and grief though art. Primetime gets unusual access to visit perhaps one of 9/11's most creative and cathartic programs: art therapy sessions led by a therapist from Ridgewood, New Jersey, who accepts families regardless of their financial situation. 53 have joined so far. Some of the artwork and images are harrowing, but the process and discussion of their work shows the therapy's clearly helping. We also meet a family who lost their father in a sudden, tragic death during the month of September 1999. Thanks to the art therapy program, it's been 2 years after the tragedy but the children are finally able to smile, talk openly about their father, and share some of their artwork with Jay Schadler. The contrast between children who lost parents on 9/11 and these kids is a stark one, but over time there is hope they will move on and gain new perspective...Jackie Payson producing.

FOR THE CHILDREN Rosie O'Donnell 2-hour special
Correspondent: Diane Sawyer; Producers -- Kristen Strand, Dennis O'Brien, Dave Perozzi, Jon Meyersohn.
A special two-hour exclusive event: The Diane Sawyer Interview with Rosie O'Donnell. You've read about her, heard about her, talked about her...but now it's Rosie's turn and she's talking exclusively to Diane about her revolutionary step into public...as a gay woman. Rosie says sexuality does not define one's essence...but how will this change Rosie? Her millions of viewers and their perception of their beloved talk show host...America's favorite comedic star? Then we visit the Loftons...one family, at the center of a historic court battle, fighting to stay together against laws that say they can't. Why the Loftons mean so much to Rosie, a gay parent herself, and what she's trying to do for them. Are the Loftons perhaps the perfect family? Not pulled apart by hatred but bonded by love, if not by law? Children, parents, passions and Rosie...

ALIVE AGAIN -- Behind the Mask -- 3 parts
Correspondent Charlie Gibson; Producers Paul and Holly Fine; support Julie Donofrio
Meet Bob Barron: master of disguise. A man who spent 24 years working for the CIA, pulling off the camouflage techniques of spy novels. A man whose talents would seem useless in ordinary life until he left...to turn his skills to help people so disfigured by cancers, accidents, congenital defects, or in the case of one Afghan woman, crippling marital abuse, they would not step outside their homes or show their faces to friends. How does Barron do it? By sculpting mirror image prosthetic devices so exact the patient wearing them is not given a second glance out on the street. Charlie Gibson steps into the life of this remarkable man...meets his patients, talks with them before and after the prosthetics that changed their lives and restored their sense of self. Giving new hope to those who never dreamed it possible...it's a piece that will amaze you.

ROAD WORTHY -- Teen Drivers -- 2 parts
Correspondent Chris Wallace; Producers Kate Harrington, Scott Bronstein; Support: Susan Welsch, LaNeice Collins, Inga Skippings
It's every parent's nightmare....teenagers behind the wheel. And in a PrimeTime experiment we witness first-hand just how 16-year-olds, newly licensed and free from parental control, test that new freedom out on the road. Are they mature enough? Experienced enough? To get behind the wheel without adult supervision? Some, like Dr. Lawrence D'Angelo, say no...and claim 16 might just be the worst age for teens to get licenses...for both physical and psychological reasons. And now, a new California study has come out that shows 7 out of 10 teen drivers are involved in 'reckless' driving. Chris Wallace followed teen drivers after school, rode with them on a Saturday night, and watched via small cameras installed inside their cars as red lights were run and speed limits ignored. In the end, it is an investigation that begs a frightening question: if all the problems of adolescence are being played out inside cars, turning vehicles into weapons and teens into liabilities, should we really be licensing at 16?

20/20:

SAUDI PRINCESS
Correspondent: Brian Ross; Producer: Jill Rackmill
Brian Ross reports. A Saudi Princess is sitting in jail after beating her maid/assistant Izdiani Soriano, A Pen Labeze woman whom she treated like a slave. Princess Buniah Al Saud became too comfortable in the United States ignoring American laws. She repeatedly abused Izdiani. When Izdiani confronted the Princess regarding American laws, the Princess pushed her down a flight of stairs.

CAMBODIA UPDATE
Correspondent: Tom Jarriel; Producer: Joanna Breen
Tom Jarriel reports. 20/20 reported in December about American families trying to adopt Cambodian children. They went to get their children and were told by the I.N.S. that they could not because the children were not really orphans. Upon seeing the 20/20 segment, some U.S. Senators began to pressure the I.N.S. to allow the children to come home. Within 48 hours and after many tears, the families were permitted to bring their children home.

ANCHOR PROFILE
Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer: Martin Clancy; Andrea Amiel
John Miller has been chosen to be Barbara Walter's new co-anchor on 20/20. John Miller has been covering crime since he was 13 years old. By 15 he was working in a News Room after school. He ambushed John Gotti and got a rare interview with the mob boss. He then joined the NYPD as their press spokesman. He didn't like it. And now here he is with ABC. Notorious for an interview with Osama Bin Laden in 1998.

GMAB-DRUG CO.
Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Melissa Cornick
John Stossel reports. John feels that complaining about the prices of pharmaceuticals is not good. In order for drug researchers to continue their work and discover more cures, they need more money. More sales make drug makers want to do more.

Friday, January 25, 2002
UNSOLVED RAPES
Correspondent: Brian Ross; Producer:
Brian Ross reports. Due to lack of funds many police departments are unable to run DNA tests on neglected rape kits. In an effort to see whether or not such testing would make a difference, the Baltimore Police and ABC agreed to split the cost for processing DNA tests on 50 rape kits that were merely sitting on a shelf. Needless to say, several rapists were caught.

TOTAL BODY SCAN
Correspondent: Dr. Tim Johnson
Dr. Tim Johnson reports. The latest fad is the Total Body Scan, a device promises to detect diseases before they become serious. The device combines CT scanners and computers to producer 3D images of the entire body. Insurance companies and doctors do not endorse the machines as there is little evidence that they actually work.

MICHAEL BLOOMBERG
Correspondent: Barbara
Barbara Walters interviews the new Mayor of New York City – Michael Bloomberg. He is the 108th Mayor of New York City. He does not wish to live in Gracey Mansion, he rides the subway to work and his desk is in the middle of everyone else. He became Mayor to make a difference. He has to deal with a serious money problem in the city and he wants to make it better.

GMAB-RED CROSS
Correspondent: John Stossel
John Stossel reports. The Red Cross collects money for victims but does not distribute all the money to the victims. They give some of the donations to the victims they collected for, then disburse the money elsewhere where needed in the Red Cross. They should give the money to those they collected for. John Stossel says, "Give Me A Break!"

Friday, February 1, 2002
CELINE DIONE
Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer: Alan Goldberg
Barbara Walters interviews Celine Dione. Two years ago Celine Dione opted to quit the music business to have a baby and stay home. She is ready to return! In her first interview since leaving she speaks to Barbara Walters openly about motherhood, her husband's gambling and her new album.

OBEDIENT KIDS – 2 PARTS
Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Joy Levy
John Stossel reports. How does one deal with a disobedient child? Hidden cameras are placed in the house of Kristen and Joe Marques to give us a look at what they deal with on a day to day basis with their two sons. Mac Bledsoe, a teacher for 29 years and the author of a parenting guide suggests giving your disobedient child choices rather than telling them what they have to do.

COMPUTER AGING
Correspondent: Juju Chang; Producer: Gwen Gowen
Juju Chang reports. Police Officer and sketch artist Michael Streed takes pictures of stars and electronically ages them. Age progression technology was developed in the early 90s to help find missing and exploited children. Ton y and Sheila Aliveri asked Streed to create an image of their 3 year-old son Steven who died 14 years ago during routine surgery. Streed created the image and both parents are overwhelmed. They feel grateful and have no regrets over their request.

Correspondent: Claire Shipman; Producer: Paul and Holly Fine
Claire Shipman reports. The "Nova" program "Life's Greatest Miracle" follows the development and birth of a child. Most babies stay in the womb for 40 weeks. Jasmine is an example of a baby that was born over 11 weeks early. Some premature babies can be saved but maybe some should not due to the developmental problems they may wind up with.

MH/FIRST PREGNANT
Correspondent: Deborah Roberts; Producer: Susan Wagner
Deborah Roberts reports. Men's Health Magazine conducted a bit of a game with three couples to see which woman would get pregnant first. One couple is very busy, one very young and the third couple spends a lot of time in bed. Two out of the three couples got pregnant.

TRIPLET DADS
Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer:
Barbara Walters reports. A Male Gay couple residing in Kansas decided they wanted children. They found a surrogate mom named Patricia willing to give birth to their child. Three out of four of the implanted eggs took! They had triplets named Tauska, Chassa and Carter. John goes to work while James stays home and raises the children.

GMAB-ADOPTION
Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Frank Mastropolo
John Stossel believes that Hollywood is promoting stars having children without men. He believes that the male lead in a child's life is being forgotten. Single moms can do a great job of parenting but it is hard. John feels that having both a father and mother is a better way to go!

DIET ADS

Correspondent: Arnold Diaz; Producer:

Arnold Diaz reports. Arnold spent months investigating diet aids and discovered a business focused more on deceiving people than helping them get into shape. Electronic muscle stimulators profess to get your abs into shape without exercise. But Dr. Gab Callan who did a study on the Abtronic said his findings did not conclude such a thing. Ben Kow, an infomercial producer claims that models are hired for the commercials for fantasy shots, not to deceive people. The best way to look great is eat right and exercise!

CLONED CAT

Correspondent: Michael Giullen; Producer

Michael Giullen reports. Dr. John Sperling's cloning research was kept secret for years. Sperling has been funding the research because he would like his dog Missy to be cloned. Sperling formed an orgainzation called Genetic Savings and Clone in college Station, Texas. Dr. Mark Witheusen claims the attempt to clone Missy is different than cloning a sheep or a cat due to the complex nature of a dog's genetic makeup. Sperling vows to clone Missy no matter how long it takes.

HOMICIDE COP

Correspondent: John Miller; Producer:

John Miller reports. During a 30-year stint with the Toledo Police, Tom Ross solved many cases. One case in particular still haunts him. It was personal. In 1981, Toledo endured a horrific time of what residents called Sleepless Summer. There was a spree of murders. The killings had a basic pattern: A young couple would be abducted at gunpoint, taken to a remote area, the woman raped, then both killed. In the meantime, Ross and his wife Sonya were raising their niece Michelle. She went through a rebellious stage and often ran away. Tragically, Michelle became the Sleepless Summer killers' ninth victim.

GMAB-SAG

Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Frank Mastropolo

During the strike by the Screen Actors Gild last year, SAG claimed that big corporations were underpaying actors. According to John Stossel, SAG came down on a little-known actor quite unfairly as well as two other little-known actors after claiming they worked during the strike. However, the Screen Actors Guild did not expel more famous people such as Tiger Woods, Elizabeth Hurley or Shaquille O'Neal for working during the strike.

BIRTH ON VIDEO

Correspondent: Arnold Diaz; Producer: Bonnie VanGilder

Arnold Diaz reports. Home video cameras in the delivery room. Should they be permitted? Many couples tape the delivery of their children. Now, many hospitals want to ban the use of video cameras in the delivery room. Some couples have taped mistakes made by either doctors or nurses delivering their children and some are suing. This can be very damaging and expensive in a malpractice suit.

TRACKS

Correspondent: Bill Ritter; Producer: Dean Irwin

Bill Ritter reports. Twenty years ago, Peter Wade, a wild and drunken teenager pulled a stupid stunt. Peter threw the switch on some railroad tracks while a train was approaching. The train derailed and crashed into the wall of a factory. The conductor Jack Duffy threw himself on a passenger Joey Sandora that was riding beside him and saved his life. The conductor died. Peter Wade served time in prison, was released and made a life for himself on Wall Street. He never got over the guilt of his actions.

SIMPSONS
Correspondent: Chris Cuomo; Producer:Gwen Gowen
Chris Cuomo reports. The cartoon "The Simpsons" has been on the air for over 13 years. It has been called the best show in history by "Time." It makes fun of everything you can imagine. Matt Groening invented "The Simpsons." The characters were built into a complete town. Various actors do the voices on the show. Many celebrities line-up to poke fun at themselves. Homer sat down with an animated version of Chris Cuomo. Lots of fun!

GMAB-DWARF TOSS
Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Karen Saunders
John Stossel reports. Does anyone have the right to tell us what to do with our bodies? There is a contest that consists of tossing dwarfs. Robert and Angela Vanetten fought to have Dwarf Tossing outlawed. They are dwarfs and claim that people often toss dwarfs that do not wish to be tossed. John Stossel believes that we should be able to do what we want with our own bodies. John says "Give Me A Break!"

HIJACKER FAMILY
Correspondent: Barbara Walters ; Producer: Joanna Breen
Barbara Walters interviewed two fathers - one father, the father of one of the hijackers and the second father, the father of two of the hijackers from September 11th. She inquired of them if they believed their sons were two of the hijackers. Both fathers denied their sons were terrorists. One father felt very sorry about the attacks on America and said that he could not forgive his sons if he finds out they were involved.

FALSE CONFESSION
Correspondent: Chris Cuomo; Producer: Sarah Koch
Chris Cuomo reports. Innocent people confess to crimes that they did not commit. The police use tactics so strong to break down criminals that even innocent people confess. Some people are so tired they believe the police have evidence and maybe they did commit the crime. Many innocent people are going to jail.

GMAB-HOMELAND SECURITY
Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Frank Mastropolo"
The government has devised a Homeland Advisory Security System. The system rates the level of threat in the United States at the time. It is divided by a color coded system and will replace regular programming when needed. Tom Ridge, Homeland Security Director, says the system is an effective way to warn people. John Stossel says, "Give Me A Break!"

CATHOLIC CHURCH
Correspondent: Brian Ross ; Producer: Jill Rackmill
Brian Ross reports. Chris Dixon claims he was paid too keep a secret. While attending a seminary to become a priest he was molested by several different priests. One of them is now a Bishop – Bishop Anthony O'Donnell. Once Dixon became a priest he was assigned to Hannibal, MO, the site where he had been molested. He took it to the high leader and the matter was settled in a brief court trial. Dixon broke his agreement of silence when others came forward. The Bishop claims he was trying to have therapy with Dixon, not sex. Dixon says his faith has been shattered. He no longer claims the Catholic Church.

SARA BRADY
Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer:
Barbara Walters interviewed James Brady and his wife Sarah. James Brady was the former Press Secretary for President Reagan until he was shot in the head when someone attempted to kill the President. It changed his life forever. Sarah has taken care of him for all of these years. Then more tragedy – Sarah was diagnosed with lung cancer and given 13 months to live. She has made it two years thus far. James is scared of losing her. But yet they live day by day together as best friends and truly love each other.

OKLAHOMA
Correspondent: Bob Brown; Producer: Nola Safro"
Bob Brown reports. Oklahoma opened on Broadway, nearly 60 years after it originally opened! The original opened in the midst of World War 2 when people needed a lift. Once again, in lieu of the World Trade Center attacks, we need a lift! The theme song of the musical is a tribute to the nation!

SCAR PROMO
A look at Barbara Walter's upcoming Academy Awards special. She interviewed Tom Cruise, Sarah Jessica Parker and Halle Berry.
