ABC NEWS PROGRAMS – Primetime, 20/20 - First Quarter, 2003
PRIMETIME THURSDAY
Thursday, January 9, 2003
CATCH ME IF YOU CAN (ST. LOUIS SERIAL KILLER) (3 PARTS)
Chris Wallace; Producer Greg Fisher
A modern day Catch Me If You Can: a brazen serial killer so sure he wouldn't be caught. He taunted police with each new victim. From the police investigation, discover the one critical mistake the killer made that could end the murders. Police have something that could end the murderers: never before seen home movies documenting his every move.

JUSTICE SERVED? (TABITHA POLLOCK) (2 PARTS)
Cynthia McFadden; Producers Joan Martelli, Deb Katz & Michelle Webb
In this story about a mother whose young child is murdered, the prosecutor, the judge and the jury say there is absolutely no doubt about who did it. It's a story with unbelievable twists and turns. In the end, many of you will be asking "Was Justice Served?"

Thursday, January 16, 2003
MOUNTAIN CLIMBING (5 PARTS)
Jay Schadler; Producer Bert Rudman
This is a story of four world class skiers with a fatal attraction to a soaring peak in Alaska: Mt. St. Elias. They had an audacious plan to climb the top and ski down. Filming their descent for a movie on extreme skiing, bravado would turn to humility, dreams to panic and eventually a life-and-death struggle against the mountain's icy grip. What went wrong? In a rescue so daring, nothing like it had ever been done before. This is also a love story between a man and woman, which begins on top of the world, four miles above sea level in the Himalayas.

Thursday, January 23, 2003
SPECIAL PRIMETIME HOUR PORN (PORN) (5 PARTS)
Diane Sawyer; Producer Robbie Gordon
Porn: It is now an estimated 10 billion dollar business, which is bigger than the NFL, NBA and Major League Baseball. Not only is the appetite for porn apparently endless, some of the most respected corporations in America are making millions from it.

Thursday, January 30, 2003
NEAR DEATH
Race car driver, Mike Harmon, recounts his amazing escape from one of the most devastating crashes in NASCAR history. As he was taking his race car for a test run on a Bristol, TN track, he lost control and slammed into a wall. Safety experts call it the worst crash that anybody actually survived.

KATE HUDSON
Actress Kate Hudson talks with Jay Schadler about emerging from the shadow of her famous mother, Goldie Hawn, to become one of Hollywood's most successful young actresses.

DON'T ASK, DON'T TELL
There are highly-trained and skilled people who say they want to help fight the inevitable war in Iraq, but their country isn't giving them a chance. "Don't Ask, Don't Tell" was a policy designed to make it easier for lesbians and gay men to serve in the armed forces. However, Cynthia McFadden reports that there are more people being discharged now due to their sexual orientation.

Thursday, February 13, 2003
VALENTINE'S DAY MURDER (2 PARTS)
Cynthia McFadden; Producer Joan Martelli; Production Support Erik Olsen, Logan Nakyanzi and Ani Mozian
Romance and murder...the story of the ideal husband and the perfect wife. They had plans to celebrate Valentine's Day together, but before Noon, she was dead...and he was under suspicion. He had a solid alibi; he was a surgeon, he had performed operations all morning. Cynthia McFadden follows the twists and turns of a murder mystery, where everything is not what it appears.

SECOND CHANCES (First Love) (2 PARTS)
John Quinones; Producer Muriel Pearson; Production Support Sandra Temko
What if you could do it all over again? What would it be like if you had stayed with your first love? What if you now had a second chance to go back in time, and maybe, do it all over again? Two people wondered about that for years, and finally got a second chance and try again. John Quinones with a Valentine's story about second chances.

BEST IN SHOW (2 PARTS)
Chris Wallace; Producers John Kennedy, Catherine Upin and Joe Rhee; Production Support Camille Elhassani and Eric Strauss
Dogs from across the country clogged the streets of New York around Madison Square Garden to compete in the Westminster Dog Show. To enter, a dog must be a champion. Meet three dogs with a shot at winning it all. You may be surprised to see what it takes to be a champ. Chris Wallace takes us behind the scenes, right up to the final moment when one dog is chosen.

Thursday, March 6, 2003
DEFENSE STRATEGY
In an hour-long "Primetime Thursday" report, Diane Sawyer goes behind the scenes of Clara Harris' headline-making murder case. Harris' attorney, George Parnham, granted "Primetime" unprecedented access as he worked with a team of forensic and jury experts to develop her defense.

Thursday, March 13, 2003
WAR ROOM
"Primetime Thursday" takes an hour-long look at some of the high-risk scenarios that could become reality if the U.S. leads an attack against Iraq. While some experts anticipate a quick and decisive U.S. victory, military planners must still consider complications that could arise in Iraq and around the globe. Peter Jennings is scheduled to interview General Tommy Franks, head of the U.S. Central Command, in Qatar about U.S. preparations for war. Cynthia McFadden moderates a special "war room" panel of military and policy experts, as "Primetime" explores several scenarios, including a protracted ground war featuring house-to-house urban combat in Baghdad and an escalating nuclear crisis in North Korea.

20/20
Friday, January 10, 2003
REBOUND HEADACHES
Correspondent: Dr. Tim Johnson ; Producer: Susan Wagner
Dr. Tim Johnson reports on over-the-counter drugs, and how some drugs can actually cause headache pain. As your body develops a resistance to it, it may cause more pain. As a result, you may have to take more drugs; they rebound off of each other.

MARIEL
Correspondent: Deborah Roberts ; Producer: Nola Safro
Mariel Hemingway was born into one of the most famous families in the country. Her Grandfather was Ernest Hemingway. Although it's been a long road for her, she has managed to get her life in order. She speaks to Deborah Roberts about her trials and tribulations.

BALDNESS
Correspondent: Arnold Diaz ; Producer: Audrey Latman
Losing your hair? Trying to figure out what might help? Arnold Diaz tells you what to watch out for and what you can do.

GMAB-BOBBY KNIGHT
Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Frank Mastropolo
Bobby Knight was fired for his behavior! John Stossel addresses the issue of suing your employer when you lose your job; particularly, those people who believe they're entitled to a job even if they haven't followed the rules.

Friday, January 17, 2003
TAX LADY
Correspondent: Lynn Sherr; Producer: Michael Pressman
Lynn Sherr reports on a woman who claims to be teaching people how to pay less on their taxes; however, she is teaching them how not to pay their taxes, which is illegal.

GUILT LAB
Correspondent: John Stossel: Producer: Ann Varney
Some experts have intriguing advice on how a certain amount of guilt may be good, particularly for your children. Watch what the children do with their guilt or lack of it.

RAGS-TO-RICHES (PART I)
Correspondent: Bob Brown; Producer: Lynn Redmond
Bob Brown reports on one of the most compelling stories you will ever hear. He speaks with a single father that lost all of his money in an investment, lost his job and had nowhere to live. Homeless, he finds himself sleeping in a train station bathroom in Oakland. With the help of a priest, he turned his life around and is now millionaire heading his own brokerage firm.

GMAB-WORST MOVIES
Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Frank Mastropho
Having spent nine billion dollars on movies last year, you might have thought that it was a great year on the big screen. According to the advertisements, it was! However, have you seen the movies that were out? John Stossel says "Give Me A Break!"

Friday, Janaury 24, 2003
OBESE KIDS (PART I)
Correspondent: Deborah Roberts
Deborah Roberts on the dangerous eating habits we have taught our children. Meet overweight teens that are having their stomachs stapled to lose weight. Doctors are using adult treatments to save their lives.

KEIKO
Correspondent: Lynn Sherr; Producer: Dean Irwin
Keiko is the killer whale that starred in "Free Willy." Keiko had too much of the good life for so long that he can not learn to live on his own. They are going to chance sending him out into the wild to see if he can survive by instinct. If not, they are willing to take care of him for the rest of his life.

GMAB-MADE IN THE USA
Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Frank Mastropolo
John Stossel jumped on the "Made in the USA" boxes at President Bush's economic event the other day and has an interesting look at politicians and "Truth and Consequences."

Friday, January 31, 2003
JASON PRIESTLY (PART I)
Correspondent: Barbara Walters
Jason Priestly made "90210" famous. Last summer, he neared death after an accident on the Kentucky Auto Racing Speedway. He woke up the next morning to find that his feet were fractured, his back was broken; he thought he would never walk again. Jason had lost a lot of blood, had his nose nearly ripped off and was unrecognizable. Chris Smith flew his helicopter to rescue Jason; within four minutes he was in the medical center. Jason required months of reconstructive surgery.

JASON PRIESTLY (PART II)
Correspondent: Barbara Walters
Jason Priestly is walking again, but running is a challenge for him. The healing process will take a t least a year. Jason's big break came on "90210," at the age of 21. He says that the show did wonderful things for him. He doesn't know if he will race again. His brush with death changed his views on life! He was dead for one minute until they revived him.

AMERICAN IDOL
Correspondent: Chris Connelly; Producer: Reid Orvedahl
"American Idol" puts people through humiliating situations; the winners and the losers both face it. Only 32 survive and in the end – only one! All the three judges, Simon Cowel, Paula Abdul and Randy Jackson, have different views. Simon is blunt and Paula is the queen of nice. Simon says that these people don't have any experience but yet expect to be famous. The show does give the singers instant stardom.

GMAB-SPEED TRAPS
Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Glenn Ruppel
John Stossel says that this town has more law enforcement than anywhere else. The city's cops hand out 2,000 tickets a year. Drivers are pulled over for anything and everything, especially those traveling through the town. People have made accusations that some have been handcuffed to chairs, abused, and mistreated by the police. The town raises 90% of their income from tickets. John Stossel says don't drive through the town, and adds "give me a break!"

Friday, February 7, 2003
BATTERED HUSBANDS
Correspondent: Juju Chang; Producer: Joanna Breen
An expose of women beating on the men in their lives. Tawny Kitaen and Chuck Finley appeared to have a good marriage, until it was revealed that Tawny was abusing Chuck, repeatedly. It's believed that women who engage in violence are mainly protecting themselves. However, after interviewing some of these violent women, one can say it's not true. Women who batter often feel that their actions are justified. Many times women cover up the abuse by eliciting sympathy from people. Many victims never report the abuse because they are afraid to be seen as causing it. The only way to change this view is to hold women as accountable for domestic violence as men have historically been.

ARMLESS CHEERLEADER
Correspondent: Bob Brown; Producer: Tom Goldstone
Jessica Parks has an amazing sense of balance. Jessica is 17 years old, involved in soccer, cheerleading and has a busy life. Jessica was born without arms; growing up, she learned to scoot on her bottom. At one time, she was fitted with prosthetic arms, but found that she did better without them. Jessica isn't as self-conscious as she once was. She has learned to do the near impossible. She now concentrates on cheerleading for her high school team. She has a special spirit!

SADDAM
Correspondent: Barbara Walters; Producer: Martin Clancy
Barbara Walters interviewed Saddam Hussein in 1981 after an attack on a nuclear reactor under construction in Iraq. The astronaut, Ilan Ramon, then a colonel in the Israeli Air Force, led a F-16 Fighter raid on the reactor, destroying it. Three weeks after the event, Barbara spoke with Saddam, in what was then his first TV appearance before American viewers.

GMAB-PETA
Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Kristy Kendall
Ingrid Newkirk, spokesperson for the People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals, appears to support the PETA activist displays of protest against fur harvesting, milk drinking, animal husbandry and medical use of animals. PETA members are told not to wear wool, silk, leather products and have limited diets. Additionally, they protest the visiting of zoos, the cutting of lawns.

Friday, February 14, 2003
SADDAM'S SON
Correspondent: Brian Ross ; Producer: Chris Vlasto
Uday Hussein is the son of Saddam. Uday is accused of murders, rapes, and overall, mayhem. He has had free reign in the country; he steals, lies, and kills. Soccer players were beaten if they didn't win. Uday has raped 12 year-olds, and even a Russian ballerina. Uday only gets excited when his victim is bleeding. Uday has been in hiding since the last invasion.

CHRISTINA AGUILERA (PART I)
Correspondent: Chris Cuomo ; Producer: Marc Dorian
Christina Aguilera hit the top of the music charts with a dynamic voice, but she has destroyed her image. She says that she isn't selling out...she is refusing to fit the mold. Christina grew up outside of Pittsburgh, PA. She later moved to Rochester to live with her grandparents. Her family life was not perfect; her father abused both Christina and her mother. Christina learned to sing at the age of eight. She appeared on "Star Search", making it to the final round, and then, losing. She landed a part on "The Mickey Mouse Club," and has co-starred with Britney Spears and Justin Timberlake. Her first single "Genie in a Bottle" flew off the shelf, selling a million copies in four weeks!

CHRISTINA AGUILERA (PART II)
Correspondent: Chris Cuomo; Producer: Marc Dorian
Christina Aguilera shed her old image in a hurry. She had a lot by the age of 21. She felt that she wasn't being true to herself. Her album "Striped" was seen as a sexual sellout. She reveals her emotional damage in her songs. The 22-year-old is worth millions. Her career is stronger than ever.

THE WALTZING CRANES
Correspondent: Bob Brown; Producer: Trish Arico
Can construction workers dance? A film that is only four minutes long is mesmerizing. The crew was paid and seems to have fun. Anne believes that everyone can dance, and she has proof.

GMAB-DIAMOND
Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Glenn Ruppel
John Stossel says that diamonds are overrated. He says that they are just rocks that don't have anything to do with love. Men didn't always give diamonds to women, this wasn't the custom originally. Most people can't tell the difference between cubic zirconium and diamond. John Stossel says "Give Me A Break!"

Friday, February 28, 2003
AIR FORCE RAPE (PART I)
Correspondent: Lynn Sherr; Producer: Glenn Silber
Twenty female Air Force cadets claim that they and fellow classmates were raped at the Air Force Academy. Their dreams were crushed when the male cadets abused and raped them. The Air Force Academy ignored their reports of sex crimes to keep their image looking clean. One cadet says she was warned by an upperclassman that she would be raped, and medical staff warned them to get on birth control. Finally, a cadet sent a local newspaper a report of her rape. There have been 99 reported assaults or rapes in the past. Out of the 99 cases, 20 have been investigated, and one has been court marshaled.

AIR FORCE RAPE (PART II)
Correspondent: Lynn Sherr; Producer: Glenn Silber
In 1991, the Navy was forced to face the music when they were caught treating their female colleagues badly. Beth says she was blackmailed into being raped by an upperclassman. He continued to use her, raping her on five separate occasions. She didn't tell anyone, at first, because she was hell bent on making her military career work. She eventually reported the crimes to the Special Investigation Department. She was reprimanded for having sex in the dorms! All the women left due to their rapes.

ROBERT BLAKE
Correspondent: Barbara Walters ; Producer: Alan Goldberg
Robert Blake spoke to Barbara Walters against his attorney's advice. He claims to be innocent. He is now in jail pending his trail. However, Blake says that he is already dead, the verdict is not important. He believes that his career is finished. He has had a spectacular life.

GMAB-BURGLAR
Correspondent: John Stossel; Producer: Frank Mastropolo
Ron Dixon woke to find an intruder in his home. He took his nine millimeter gun and shot the intruder. The robber is now in Riker's Island. However, now Dixon has been arrested and threatened with criminal possession of a firearm because the gun was not licensed. He may have to serve time in the same facility as the robber! John Stossel says "Give Me A Break!"

Friday, March 7, 2003
LIONEL TATE
Barbara Walters reports on Lionel Tate, the Florida boy who, a few years ago, was tried as an adult and convicted of first degree murder for killing six-year-old playmate Tiffany Eunick when he was 12 years old. What happened next made national headlines -- Tate was sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of parole.

Friday, March 14, 2003
FORGOTTEN P.O.W.s
As America prepares for battle in Iraq, Correspondent Brian Ross interviews P.O.W.s from the first Gulf War who share their largely untold stories of horrific treatment in captivity. Twenty-one Americans were taken prisoner by Saddam Hussein's army and held in the so-called "Baghdad Biltmore" by the Iraqi secret police.

KEEPING FAITH
John Schaeffer's decision to join the Marines baffled his family and a community. He was the product of a New England prep school, a young athlete and poet from a family of intellectuals. His unorthodox decision changed the way John and his father, Frank, thought about each other, about family, community and even their country. Together Frank and John wrote a book, "Keeping Faith," to recount their journey.

PRICED OUT
Concert tickets prices for groups like The Who, Sting and The Rolling Stones have skyrocketed in recent years, leaving many fans priced out of the fun. Jami Floyd talks with people from all sides of the music industry to find out why, and finds the answer depends on whom you ask.

GMAB
For 60 years, American troops have trained on Vieques Island off Puerto Rico, until recently when a civilian was killed by a bomb that was mistakenly dropped. If the base goes, so too will a $300 million-a-year stimulus to the local economy. John Stossel says "Give Me a Break" to protestors who want to keep open a base that is no longer in operation.
