Re: Children's Television Act of 1990 -- ABC-TV Network Commercial Information - Fourth Quarter 1999

Attached is a Certification by the network that all children's programs scheduled for broadcast during the fourth quarter of 1999 are formatted to comply with the commercial limits of the Children's Television Act of 1990. The Certification, which must be placed in your public file no later than ten days after the end of the fourth calendar quarter, lists each children's program and the amount of time normally allotted for network commercial matter [and opportunities for local commercial matter] in and/or adjacent to the program.

The Certification reflects broadcast of network programming in live clearance periods. As we have previously advised you, it is important that these programs be broadcast at the times and in the order described on the Certification network schedule so that the commercial limits are not inadvertently exceeded. If your station exceeds the limits, you must include a detailed explanation of the overage in your public file.

Any changes in the number of commercial minutes per program hour will be sent to you over the A-Net when they occur.

Since we are preparing and transmitting the reports electronically at the end of the quarter instead of a few weeks before, you will no longer receive a separate confirmation.

The Certification is designed to furnish you the information concerning commercial matter in network children's programs to enable you to meet the record keeping and public file requirements of the Children's Television Act.
