20/20 - Fourth Quarter, 2000

Monday, October 2, 2000

"AIR RAGE"

Producer: Joe Tobin; Support: Christine Murphy and James Wang

Sylvia Chase looks into the story behind the most recent air rage incident. Jonathan Burton, a 19-year-old passenger, was aboard a routine air flight when fellow passengers say he became agitated. When Burton began running around the plane, kicking in a door, passengers helped flight attendants to restrain him, ultimately killing Burton. Was it a homicide? Or were passengers and airline staff just using self-protection?

"DANCE SAFE...OR SORRY?" (DANCE SAFE)

Producer: David Perozzi; Support: Terry Dollard

John Quinones investigates the latest drug to sweep the nation. The innocent looking pill, Ecstasy, is mostly being used by teens that attend all-night parties and raves who are seeking highs they describe as a "complete feeling of elation." But what are the dangers of Ecstasy? And how many copycat drugs are out there? One group, called Dance Safe, is now appearing at many of the big city rave parties to check ecstasy users' drugs to make sure the ecstasy is not a dangerous copycat drug.

"THE CAT'S MANY LIVES" (CAT STEVENS)

Producer: Lee Hoffman; Support: Christine Murphy

Elizabeth Vargas talks with Cat Stevens, whose words and music made him one of the most popular singers and songwriters of the 1970s. Stevens' career was cut short, however, when he left the music world without a second thought and found his "new self" in the Islamic faith. Stevens, who changed his name to Yuseff Islam after converting, says that he now looks at some of his music and sees a new meaning to some of his lyrics.

Friday, October 6, 2000

"DIANA IN A NEW LIGHT" (PATRICK JEPHSON)

Producer: Katie Thomson; Support: Gail Rosenberg

Barbara Walters speaks with Princess Diana's most trusted advisor, Patrick Jephson. Jephson has written a controversial novel, Shadows of a Princess, revealing many secrets that he learned from working with Diana. Now, he is being called a traitor by many, including Diana's son, Prince William.

"FAT CATS FOR DINNER" (SOFT MONEY)

Producer: Rhonda Schwartz; Support: David Scott

Brian Ross investigates what it takes to get on the guest list to a state dinner. In the past, guests represented the best people in the country. But lately, all it takes to get an invite to a state dinner is a large donation to the Democratic Party.

"UNREAL T.V." (REALITY TV)

Producer: Christina Romano; Support: Michelle Chang

Bill Ritter shows to what extremes reality-based television shows will go in other countries.

"GMAB—PETA"

Producer: Kristie Kendall; Support: Stephanie Albert

John Stossel thinks PETA animal rights activists have gone too far.

Thursday, October 12, 2000

"DIAMONDS"

Producer: David Fitzpatrick; Support: Tom Goldstone

John Quinones follows the hidden trail of illegal diamonds beginning in Sierra Leone, the west African country where diamonds are harvested and the miners are enslaved. Giant profits from diamond trading are then used to wage a brutal war against the country's own people.

"INTERNET GIRL"
Producer: Tom Berman; Support: Valerie Parker
Cynthia McFadden meets a 15-year-old CEO who is risking most of her parents' entire life savings trying to answer the question, "What goes on in a teenager's head?" Shw has begun a website, Goosehead.com, where teenagers can log-on to discuss anything from pimples to the pain they feel when their parents divorce.

"FAKE PREGNANCY"
Producer: Kira Kay; Support: Myrna Toledo
Elizabeth Vargas talks to John Andrews whose pregnant wife, Theresa, was kidnapped and killed last month by a woman who desperately wanted a child of her own. The baby, stolen from Andrew's womb, survived, and now the father and widowed husband is facing what has happened.

"DIRTY KITCHENS"
Producer: Jackie Payson; Support: Mary Healy
Sylvia Chase reports on a unique experiment that looks at how Americans really act at home. A look into people's kitchens may uncover that there may be discrepancies between what we say and what we do, or think we do, in our kitchens.

"MID-EAST UPDATE"

Friday, October 13, 2000
"MID-EAST UPDATE"

"THE PERFECT RACE" (EAST GERMAN ATHLETES HOUR)
Producer: Janice Tomlin; Support: Valerie Parker and Marcia Biggs
Elizabeth Vargas with the story of a cruel experiment carried out on young female athletes from East Germany. The girls, called the Wonder Girls, were the fastest, strongest athletes ever to come from East Germany in 1976. Everyone thought they were on steroids, but they all passed the tests, going on to sweep the Olympics winning gold medals one after another. Now, documents reveal the truth that a fiendish government experiment pumped the girls' bodies with testosterone steroids, making the girls look like men, and effecting their future lives.

Monday, October 16, 2000
"LITTLE GIRL LOST" (MICHELE DORR—3 PARTS)
Producer: Liza Finley; Support: Tanya Henderson
Ju Ju Chang traces a fourteen-year-old mystery centered on the disappearance of Michelle Dorr, a six-year-old who went out to play one day, vanishing without a trace. One of the prime suspects was Carl Dorr, Michelle's father. But was Carl Dorr guilty, or just coerced by police into confessing his guilt? And how did next-door-neighbor, Haden Clark, a diagnosed schizophrenic, play into Michelle's disappearance?

"THE LAST ONE STANDING" (HARD BODY CONTEST 1)
Producer: David Peterkin; Support: David Puente and Erin Biddle
Chris Cuomo asks, "What would you do for a new truck?" In one contest in Longview, Texas, contestants were given simple rules: the last person with their hands on the prize truck will get to walk away with the truck. The contest can take days and the prize is worth $43,000. Part one in a three part series.

"CAN'T PLACE THAT FACE?" (ELECTION KNOWLEDGE)
Producer: Gwen Gowen; Support: Stephanie Albert
Chris Cuomo goes out on assignment to the streets of Chicago, Los Angeles, and New York to ask people if they recognize some of the political candidates with the presidential elections being only three weeks away.

Thursday, October 19, 2000

"USS COLE—A MOMENT OF CRISIS" (USS COLE)

Producer: Chris Whipple; Support: James Wang, Eric Strauss, Tom Goldstone, and Phuong Nguyen

Chris Cuomo goes to the home base of the USS Cole to hear some stories never before heard about the sailors that lost their lives in the explosion aboard the navy ship. He also talks about the kind of bomb that could cause that kind of destruction.

"21 FOR 21" (TWENTY-ONE)

Producer: Melissa Cornick; Support: Eric Araya

John Quinones uncovers a right of passage—turning twenty-one and downing shot-after-shot of alcohol. In some cases, this birthday ritual can be fatal. But are the bars or the partygoers to blame?

"ALLSTATE"

Producer: Kim Skeen; Support: Camille Elhassani

Chris Wallace brings viewers a Primetime investigation into the insurance company Allstate. After a car accident, one woman claims that she was told she did not need a lawyer. Who told her? She says it was the insurance company of the driver who hit her—Allstate. Allstate says it is just presenting all the choices.

"LANGUAGE OF PRAYER" (TONGUES)

Producer: Alison Sesnon; Support: Rosa Cho

Nancy Snyderman with a new religious movement where people say they are speaking in tongues. Believers say the Holy Spirit is talking through them directly to God.

Friday, October 20, 2000

"LET 'EM WATCH" (VIOLENCE)

Producer: Howard Rosendberg; Support: Brian Hale
