The future of an immigration reform

Time: 9:00

Al Punto continues its commitment to discuss the future of immigration reform with the segment "Conversaciones Sobre Inmigracion" (Conversations on Immigration). This Sunday, Katherine Vargas, spokesperson for the National Immigration Forum and Juan Jose Gutierrez, President of Vamos Unidos USA join Jorge Ramos and discuss their efforts to get support for immigration reform legislation.

Nicolas Berardi, President TECHO

An initiative that helps families in extreme poverty

Time: 5:00

An innovative initiative called TECHO is helping families in extreme poverty to have a roof over their heads in 19 countries in Latin America. In an effort to bring attention to the living conditions of thousands of families, artists render small replicas of the houses that are built by TECHO and sell them as art to raise funds for the construction of transitional homes, the establishment of social inclusion programs and the creation of sustainable communities. Nicolas Berardi comes to Al Punto to discuss TECHO's efforts to empower struggling families and help them live a better life.

Gladys and Robert Zimmerman Jr., Mother and Brother of George Zimmerman, charged in shooting of Trayvon Martin

The case of George Zimmerman

Time: 15:00

In her first exclusive Spanish-language interview, Gladys Zimmerman, the mother of George Zimmerman visits Al Punto and talks to Jorge Ramos about how her life has changed since her son's involvement in the incident that ended the life of Trayvon Martin. From an undisclosed location, Gladys tells Jorge she is fearful for her life. She also talks about her son and why he volunteered for the neighborhood watch. She will answer to those who say her son is a racist and talk about the latest picture that shows the injuries George Zimmerman apparently sustained during the encounter with Martin. How are they paying for the family's legal fees? Robert Zimmerman Jr., George's brother joins Ramos in the studio.

Mike Hammer, Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs

Important issues for Latin America

Time: 6:40

This Sunday, Mike Hammer, Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs talks about important issues for Latin America including United States relations with the new sworn-in President of Mexico, Enrique Peña Nieto. Will the U.S. keep assisting Mexico in the fight against drug cartels? Assistant Secretary Hammer also discusses Venezuela and their hope for better relations with the government of President Hugo Chavez. He also discusses the U.S. support to the new peace process in Colombia and explains what would be the United States' response if there is a chemical attack against civilians in Syria.

Pedro Pierluisi, Resident Commissioner of Puerto Rico

Change of Status in Puerto Rico

Time: 8:36

On November 6, 54 percent of voters in Puerto Rico stated through a non-binding plebiscite that they wanted a change of status and 61 percent declared they wanted statehood for the island. Will the U.S Congress support the results of this referendum? Should Puerto Rico become the 51st state of the United States? Puerto Rico's Resident Commissioner Pedro Pierluisi visits Al Punto and explains how he plans to convince members of Congress to discuss this issue. Pierluisi also talks about his relationship with the new elected governor of Puerto Rico Alejandro García Padilla and how he plans to work with the Governor who doesn't favor statehood.

Cristina Jimenez, Managing Director of "United We Dream"

Deferred Action

Time: 6:00

More than one million dreamers are eligible for Deferred Action, but just about 300 thousand have filed requests with the Department of Homeland Security. What has kept those dreamers that are eligible from applying? Are they afraid of the authorities or are they simply unable to afford the costs? "United We Dream", the largest network of undocumented youth in the country, voted unanimously during their National Congress to push for an Immigration reform in 2013. What is their strategy to accomplish their dream? Cristina Jimenez, managing director of "United We Dream", comes to Al Punto and explains.
