Community	KVOA 5:30 PM Newscast	4/2/2005	5:30:55 to 5:36:03		Pope John Paul II has died. The 84 year old Pontiff passed away in his vatican apartment after a long struggle against debilitating illness. Tears and prayers at St. Peter's Square in Rome as tens of thousands of people heard the news. Later, some broke out in applause.. an Italian sign of respect. Bells tolled in mourning at the Vatican and a group of young people sang "Alleluia, he will rise again." Here in Tucson, bells rang at St. Augustine Cathedral to signify the death of John Paul. Bells are tolling at Roman Catholic churches around the world. Pope John Paul II headed the Roman Catholic church for 26 years. He was an extraordinary mand and religious leader. President Bush is remembering the Pope as a hero for the ages. Appearing at the White House with the First Lady at his side, the President marked the Pontiff's passing. Meantime, the flag over the White House is fluttering at half staff. President Bush has ordered that flags on public buildings across American be lowered and stay that way until the Pontiff is buried. Here in Tucson, local Catholics are reacting to the news of the Pope's passing.

Community	KVOA 6 PM Newscast	5/25/2005	6:25:50 to 6:27:35		Tonight I give you my final farewell. After 30 remarkable years at KVOA I have decided to leave the station. But I feel like the most blessed person in Tucson for having been given the privilege of doing this wonderful job. For the privilege of coming into your home every night. Many of you have watched loyally for 30 years through the birth of my two sons, through a myriad of hairstyles... some of which you hated. Others of you arrived more recently in Southern Arizona. And have given me the honor of your trust. To each of you, I say thank you. I am so happy to have been part of your lives. And to have served this community I love so much. Very few people in my profession have the opportunity to stay at one station for three decades... To serve one community for three decades. I am truly lucky. I don't know what lies ahead of me but I am excited about the challenges and adventures I'm sure to experience over the next 30 years in a new career. The one thing I am sure of is that I will continue to serve this community.
Community Development	Impact	4/17/2005	6a to 6:30a	Joe Coyle, V.P. Raytheon	It's part of this job I have loved the best. I am very proud of what I have accomplished at KVOA.
