Dear Mrs. Tulley,

I would like to express my displeasure at the way you handled letting Rebecca Miller go. It is unfortunate that you feel so uncomfortable with yourself, you had to take it out on someone as great as she was and still is. I have watched Channel 5 news regularly since I was at least 18yrs old, I am now a lot older, and my husband or myself will not be watching it in the future. I never had trouble understanding the weather forecast after Becky told me what to expect. I do not know what you think you have accomplished, but you have upset many, many people, and if you do not believe in karma, you should start believing in it now. You reap what you sow, and I can only hope your actions will be called into question by the higher administration. You can believe that I will find out who to contact that is above you. You also broke up a group of at least four people who worked in a harmonious atmosphere and it was evident by the way they talked and joked with each other. Consider yourself the Sea Hag of Channel 5, and I hope this follows you everywhere you go. I hope you see Becky's pretty face many times a day, and it really haunts you.

D. Johnson

Mr. Brian Howcker; Program Director
Channel 5 TV
3900 Barnett St.
Ft. Worth TX 76103

I watch Channel 5 most mornings for the reliable punctuality of weather reports. It is known when they are going to happen. And I enjoy looking at Rebecca Miller-

Your weathercasters annoy by reading off area temperatures, when the numbers are right there on the screen. Who cares about small differences in local towns anyway. More than 10 degrees difference may be newsworthy but 2 or 3 degrees sure are not. Put them on the screen and shut up, except maybe for occasional comments about rare extremes in the local area. James Aydelott is the worst offender.

News of nationwide samplings are welcome

Extreme weather with local impact merits coverage, such as hail, tornados, or flooding here & there. But not a few degrees temperature spread or a few miles windspeed differences.

Next, Tammi Dombeck grossly overworks the term "area". Just leave that word out unless a real area like 100 square miles is involved. "Westbound 635 approaching Coit" is clear enough.

Getting on now to more important issues, we really need specific in depth factual analysis of the election process in Texas.

Voters should have to register in person with Texas DL and a Social Security Card. Those should be computer processed on the spot with police standing by to arrest violators. Applications that pass can then be sent on to Austin for criminal background check.

Stealing elections has progressed a long way from back when a truck would unload recruited "voters" then drive them around the block to vote again or under different names with no ID required; and burned ballot boxes as in 1948 and surely before.

Why must the democratic process be so corrupted?

Keep Up The Good Work,

Pat McMurray

Days Of Our Lives
c/o NBC-TV
3000 West Alameda Ave.
Burbank, CA 91523

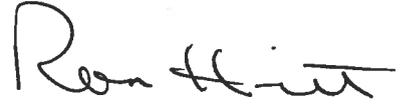

To Whom It May Concern,

Just a note to let you know our family has chosen to begin viewing the program "Days Of Our Lives" in a delayed format on the SOAP Channel because of the irritating colored logo and upcoming program promotions that the local Dallas/Fort Worth NBC affiliate (KXAS – Channel 5) has chosen to add to the bottom quarter of the screen. It was bad enough to have the peacock logo in various colors moving around the bottom of the screen during our shows but for the past week we have had to also view the upcoming promotion for "Biggest Loser Couples". And unlike past irritating up-coming promos that flash on for a few seconds the Biggest Loser promo is on the screen for the entire show.

We have noticed other local channels (ABC, CBS, etc.) seem to refrain from using shows on the air to promote their upcoming week's programming. They also show their logos in an almost transparent mode so as not to be distracting from the regular programming. Why can't NBC be as view friendly?

Isn't it enough that views have to view 20 minutes of commercials in a 60 minute broadcast without having the irritation of all the promo crap on the screen during regular programming?

Sincerely,

Ron Hiatt
